Friday afternoon and evening in Alliance was devoted to the visiting firemen and their interests. The visitors were kept busy from the time they arrived in the city and seemed to enjoy everything from the sight-seeing tour in the afternoon, conducted by W. R. Harper, to the big ball at night in the opera house, which was well attended by the fair sex who did their part in making the visitors feel at home. One Alliance young man who is not a fireman was heard to remark early in the evening to another, "Well, we might as well go home and go to bed. There is no use in being down town tonight unless you are a volunteer fireman or a girl."

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN COMING

Effort Will Be Made February 7 and 8 to Secure New Members

In order to close up the year with a showing that is satisfactory to all, a short membership campaign is to be put on by the Alliance Commercial Club for two days, February 7 and 8, Monday and Tuesday. A number of Alliance business men who do not belong to the club will be asked to join and help pay the expense for the benefits which are being received.

Every Alliance business man should be a member of the club. The recent report published in The Herald shows the work that was accomplished in the last six months of 1915.

Events in the Social Realm

The O. E. S. will meet in regular session next Tuesday evening and a pleasant time is anticipated.

Mrs. C. L. Drake entertained the members of the Woman's Guild of the Episcopal church at the parish house yesterday afternoon, and an enjoyable time was had by all. Lunch was served at the close.

Mrs. T. A. Cross entertained the ladies of the Baptist Ladies' Aid at the Emerson school building yesterday afternoon, and the program for the hours was pertaining to missionary work. Mrs. A. A. Layton gave an interesting talk on the subject, and Miss Elsie Simpson gave a pleasing solo. A delicious lunch was served and the afternoon much enjoyed.

On Saturday evening of last week Mrs. John Snyder entertained about thirty guests in honor of Mrs. Emma Brown, and the time was much enjoyed with games and social converse. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, and at the proper time, Mrs. E. M. Martin presented the honored one with a beautiful silver sugar shell and a butter knife, tokens of esteem from her friends.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. H. L. Ormsby yesterday afternoon and enjoyed a program pertaining to the missionary field. The subject was, "The lame walk, and the blind see," and Christianity in India and Burma was discussed. Readings were given by Miss Mable Bye, and Mrs. Lunn favored with pleasing musical numbers. The program was helpful and of intrinsic value.

On Tuesday evening of this week, a number of friends and interested people were entertained at the School of Music, the event being a concert given by the voice pupils of Miss Burnett. Each number was a treat in itself and showed efficiency and training, considering the length of time the pupils have been studying. After the close of the program the company was served a delicate lunch, and a general good time and converse ensued.

Mrs. A. P. Brown entertained the Woman's Club last Friday afternoon and a pleasant time was enjoyed in considering the topic of "Home Economics". Jokes recently read or heard were used as response to roll call. The subject of candy making, including methods and recipes and samples were ably discussed by Mrs. Sallows and Mrs. Rowan, and also by the other members. Miss Blanche Kibbe gave pleasing readings before the serving of the elaborate lunch.

The Rebekahs enjoyed a pleasant evening a week ago Friday night when they installed their officers for the ensuing year. The following is a list of same: Noble Grand, Mrs. J. M. Scott; vice grand, Mrs. T. G. Waddell; secretary, Miss Opal Russell; treasurer, Miss Edna Martin; wardens, Miss Nellie Wright; conductor, Mrs. Frank Rowe; R. S. N. G., Mrs. J. Snyder; L. S. N. G., Mrs. Mose Wright; R. S. V. G., Mrs. F. M. Hicks; L. S. V. G., Mrs. F. A. Trabant; I. G., Mrs. Ethel Barb; O. G., T. G. Waddell. Mrs. W. R. Drake was installing president, and Mrs. Emma Brown was grand marshal. After the conclusion of the service a social time was enjoyed, and near the close of the evening Mrs. T. G. Waddell very pleasantly presented Mrs. Brown with a beautiful souvenir spoon, with the Odd Fellow and Rebekah emblems thereon, as a small tribute to her faithfulness to the lodge and its endeavors during her residence in our city. In a few well chosen words Mrs. Waddell expressed the regrets of the members in having the honored one leave town, but also gave her the hearty good wishes of all.

Several dinner parties and social affairs have been given the past few days in honor of Mrs. Adelle Phelan and Mrs. W. B. Gage, who have been visiting friends in our city. Among the gracious hostesses are Mrs. E. A. Hall, who entertained Wednesday of last week, Mrs. Percy Cogswell, who was hostess at a dinner party Thursday evening, and Mrs. C. H. Tully, who entertained Saturday evening. All the events proved to be enjoyable and the friends participating were glad to thus spend the hours.

On Friday afternoon the Woman's Federated Club will meet with Mrs. Lester, and a large attendance of the members is requested, as this meeting will prove interesting and is the time for election of officers. The roll call will be suggestions for next year's work, and the cafeteria luncheon planned will be a pleasant feature of the afternoon. Miss Laura Mounts will favor with music. This should be an important meeting as the laying of plans for the work of the coming weeks is important and one in which all should take a lively interest.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Keiser, Saturday evening, when their daughter, Miss Margaret, was united in marriage to Edward B. Crane, the ceremony being performed by County Judge L. A. Berry. The bride has been formerly engaged with the Nebraska Telephone Company of this city, and was efficient in her line of work. The groom is also well known among friends here, having been employed on the Times a couple of years ago and also on the Alliance News for a few months last summer. The happy couple left Sunday for Scottsbluff where they will make their home, the groom being engaged on the Star-Herald. The best wishes of a large number of friends will go with the young people as they thus assume the new relationship, and it is hoped that prosperity and success will attend them wherever they go. The Herald joins in extending congratulations.

VISITS POTASH PLANT

Colorado Geologist Gives Extensive Write-up to Works of Potash Products Company

The Omaha World-Herald of January 26 contained the following reference to the plant of the Potash Products Company, which is seven miles east of Alliance, at Hoffland:

Nebraska's latest mineral find, still developing, that of potash, is illustrated and described in the Colorado School of Mines quarterly headed "The Potash Deposits of Northwestern Nebraska." Victor Ziegler, assistant professor of geology, has visited the Potash Products Co. of Omaha plant near Alliance.

It is spoken of by Prof. Ziegler as the first producing commercial potash salts in North America and therefore of national importance. Forty years ago he says the existence of Jesse lake and other lakes with alkali crusts were known. Sixteen years ago Mr. McCarthy discovered a carload of the crusts to Omaha, but failed to interest any one and sold them for washing powders. Interest revived four years ago.

There is a complete plant at Hoffland for reducing the alkali water to potash, this plant comprising pumps, a solar tower, evaporating vats, loading platforms and tank cars.

In Omaha it is known that shortage of the potash supply from Germany due to the war has stimulated production wherever there has been found potash in commercial quantities. J. H. Shaw is manager of the plant. T. E. Stevens and Dr. Herman Reinhold of this city are heavy owners in the Potash Products Co.
